Subjects for Expansion

The more I learn about classical music and its brilliant composers, the more awakened I become. I am continually surprised by the beauty--and the connections that can be made by learning the stories behind the artists and the way they composed music. I love to hear about what inspires them--and that always inspires me.

The following Subjects for Expansion are ones in which I have been particularly surprised and/or awakened by what I have learned:

Videos and articles by Anthony Tommasini (For the New York Times) Especially…

Culture: Musical Surprises
http://www.nytimes.com/video/arts/music/100000002736236/musical-surprises.html

Culture: Musical Surprises: Schubert
http://www.nytimes.com/video/arts/music/100000002837180/musical-surprises-schubert.html

Culture: Musical Surprises: Beethoven
http://www.nytimes.com/video/arts/music/100000002821517/musical-surprises-beethoven.html

Exploring Music with Bill McGlaughlin exploringmusic.wfmt.com/

Or, weeknights from 8-9pm on WERN 88.7 (Wisconsin Public Radio)